* Waitlist Growth

RSVC continues to receive consistent registration interest from families across Coquitlam and the Tri-Cities. Interest is tracked through registration forms, waitlists, website enquiries, and community engagement to help assess program demand and support future program planning.

* Parent Interest & Community Messages

Families continue to express interest in accessible, well-organized, and development-focused volleyball programs that provide a positive, safe, and inclusive environment for youth athletes. Parent enquiries and feedback continue to inform program planning and ongoing improvement.

* Social Media Reach & Engagement

RSVC uses its website, social media platforms, and community communication channels to share program information, registration updates, athlete development content, and club announcements. These channels help families stay informed while increasing awareness of youth volleyball opportunities throughout the Tri-Cities.
